

Christine Cain, DVM, BS

Assistant professor at University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School, on Dermatology and Allergies.

Specialties: Food and Skin Allergies.

Meryl P. Littman, VMD, DACVIM

Recently retired Professor of Medicine , C-E, University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine

Board Certified, Diplomate of the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (DACVIM)

She spoke at previous symposiums on vaccines and also tick-borne diseases. She will speak at this symposium on the Geriatric dog.

Clinical Specialties: Internal Medicine

Research Areas: Canine infectious disease (especially tick-borne diseases and Leptospirosis), glomerulonephritis/protein-losing nephropathy, genetic kidney diseases of soft-coated Wheaten terriers and Airedales, inflammatory bowel disease/protein-losing enteropathy, and Addison's disease.

Diane Gabriel VMD, CVA

Does holistic and integrative approach in treating her animal patients for:

- Preventative care
- Aide to healing a long standing illness
- Improving a quality of life.

Holistic medicine is a safe treatment. Using acupuncture and other modalities. This individualized approach gives a patient more options in their life,

Caitlyn & Cody's Diner. 1907 John Fries Hwy. Quakertown PA 18951. (215)-536-8888*DIRECTIONS: From the intersection of Routes 309 and 663, head towards the PA turnpike entrance. The diner is across the street from the Quakertown entrance/exit of the PA Turnpike (between two hotels).